

In each detail or piece, texture and colour, carefully chosen and disposed in harmony by the magical stroke of the decorators, history was made in this house, which looks more like an art gallery. The studio Artslab has had a great contribution. The atelier Design Factory states that "the whole scenery has been influenced by a panel of tendencies created for this, with objects and works of art that described this model family and the general concept of the apartment". The producers have achieved this and much more: harmonious, pure and agreeable yet functional atmospheres. And, to the predominant white "skin" of the home's walls, the decorators have gathered "earth" tonalities like browns and ochers" – also used in wall paper – in order to calm down and transmit comfort. A luxuriant operation with a lot of glamour... ■
